As one of the world's largest online travel agencies, Expedia generally offers smooth service—but problems such as flight cancellations, hotel discrepancies, or billing errors can still occur. Here's a step-by-step guide to help you complain to Expedia and get the resolution you need.

1. Call Expedia Customer Service

The fastest way to file a complaint with Expedia is to speak directly with a live representative by calling their customer support line at +1 (833) 488-6498 or +1 (855) 718-1238.

Tips for calling Expedia:

Have your booking reference or confirmation number ready.

Clearly explain the issue—whether it's a refund, itinerary error, or customer service problem.

Ask to escalate the matter if the representative cannot resolve it on the spot.

2. Use the Expedia Help Center

The Expedia Help Center on their website or mobile app is your go-to resource for self-service options. It contains answers to frequently asked questions about flights, hotels, car rentals, cancellations, and refunds. You can also submit a request or initiate a live chat with an agent.

3. Submit a Complaint via Email

For more formal or documented concerns, you can send an email through Expedia's official Contact Us form available in the Help Center. Make sure to include:

Your booking details

A clear explanation of the issue

Any relevant attachments (receipts, screenshots, chat logs)

This written trail helps ensure your complaint is documented and trackable.

4. Reach Out on Social Media

Expedia actively monitors their social media accounts on platforms like Twitter and Facebook. Public posts and direct messages can often prompt faster responses, especially for time-sensitive issues.

When reaching out:

Include your booking reference and a brief description of the problem

Stay polite and concise to increase your chances of getting help quickly

5. Escalate to the Better Business Bureau (BBB)

If you've tried contacting Expedia directly without success, you can file a formal complaint through the Better Business Bureau (BBB). This adds a layer of public accountability and may encourage faster resolution from Expedia's customer relations team.
